

Spotyourself // Spotify Music Visualiser

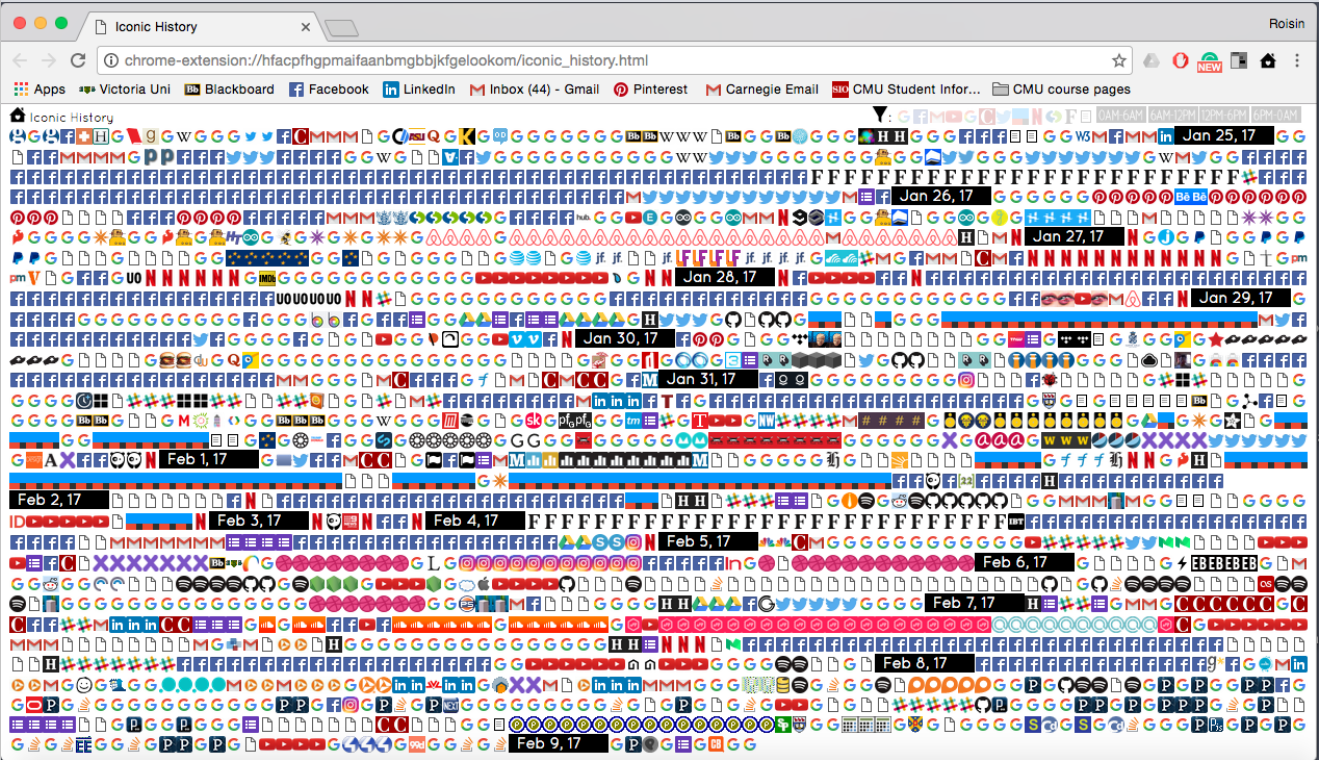

An animated browser homepage based on your musical identity. Analyses your most listened to genre and creates a visual version of your musical self so that you can reflect and better remember who you are.

The main topics I wanted to explore:

- How can we improve the way we view ourselves and the way that we remember who we are.
- Through comparing our musical identities we are able to get an overview of ourselves and easily obtain an overview of someone else.
- How can other memory devices further improve our knowledge of oneself.
